FOR LITTLE FOLK JUST BEFORE BEDTIME

The Sandman's Stories

MARIAN'S VISITORS.

"Venus," said the moon man, keep quiet."

"I will sing if I want to," said the haughty girl tossing up her head, "I have not been on earth in ages and I

G Street's Most Fashionable Women's Outergarment Store.

ARIAN'S nurse often told her | faces, and Marian saw that there were the stars. One night after nurse had left her Marian saw the moonlight streaming in through the window.

"Nurse would say he was smiling his brightest smile," thought Marian, "and I must take a good look at him before I go to sleep, because he is very big tonight." She jumped out of bed and went to the window. "His face is very broad tonight." she said, "and I can see his daughter's face, too, but I do wish her face was beside his face, instead of being a part of it, because I can only see one at a time now. The stars are all out, too, and nurse says they are his children. I wish I could see their faces."

they are his children. I wish I could see their faces."

Marian went back to bed wondering whether the stars were little girls or boys, and if the moon gould remember all their names, there were so many of them. Presently the curtain at the window was pushed aside and a bright, smilling face looked in.

"Why it is the moon man," said Marian, sitting up in bed.

"Good evening," he said; "may I come in?"

"I should be pleased to have you," said Marian, "but I didn't know that you had feet and legs."

"Of coure, I have," he replied hopping over the sill of the window. He was so short that Marian had to look over the foot of the bed to see him. He did not have a body and his legs and arms were very thin, "My children wanted to come with me," he said, "but I thought I better wait and ask if you were willing to have them."

"I should be pleased to have them," said Marian, "if you think they can all get in this small room."

The moon man hopped to the window said Marian. "if you think they can all get in this small room."

The moon man hopped to the window sill again and beckened with both hands, then he jumped to the floor again, his head rolling from side to side as he walked. He hopped up to the top of the bureau and sat on one corner, swinying his stick like legs.

"Where is your daughter who is part of your face?" asked Marian.

"That is all imagination with people on earth," replied the moon man; "this face is all mine; look and see if you see the face of a woman." you see the face of a woman."
Marian looked at his shining, jolly face and had to acknowledge that she did not see any face but his.
"But truly, Mr. Moon Man." she said.
"I do sometimes when you are in the sky see the face of a girl with flowing hair."

You imagine it," said the moon man "You immine it," said the moon man, "just as the other people do."

Just then a noise like the running of children was heard. "Here they come," said the moon man, and in through the window came the stars tumbling over each other in their hatte.

Marian could not tell whether they were girls or boys they were dressed so queenly in robes, or copes.

"Take off your stars," said the moon man.

went their little hands and drew the stare which covered their

THE TIMES Question Box

Times inquiry Department:
Would you kindly tell me how to remove grouse spots from a woolen skirt and spots made from ice cream on a tan silk and not wast? Thanking you, I am.
Yours truly, DOLORES.

Try equal parts of ammonia and turrentine. Apply to the spots and dry in

Times Inquiry Department:

I am a young lady nineteen years old, and have been keeping steady sompany with and have been keeping steady sompany with a young man for eight months, in which time we have become engaged. A short while ago we had a misunderstanding. He wanted to break an engagement with me to go out fishing on a funday afternoon, with a crowd of boys. Now, he thinks I don't care for him any more, because I wanted his company when I only see him once a week, and that on Sunday, Because of this he says I don't want him to go with boys. Don't you think that one's intended wife should come first? He says I am tired of him. What shall I do to convince him that he is wrong, and that I still love him?

In the first place, Anna, it is very hard to convince a man that what you expect of him is consideration, time, and attention, especially when you are engaged to him. He probably has evolved as own idea of personal duty toward the girl to whom he is engaged, and no amount of argument on your part will convince him that he has not found the only and best method of procedure. This idea of duty, consideration, obligation, whatever you choose to call it, has been the primal cause of dissension between man and woman since they were created. You will have to evolve your own plans out of your love affair and not accordingly. If you don't like the way he acts, of course there is a way out of it, drop him out of your existence, if you should be unhappier without him than with him, try to make him nore deeply in love with you, and then gradually, by a slow process of elimination, try to find happiness in your own way. the girl to whom he is engaged, and your own way.

Times Inquiry Department:

Please tell me through the Inquiry Column a remedy for perspiring feet, and oblige, Mrs. M. E. B. To overcome this condition of your feet, first improve your general health, by proper flying and food, healthful excruise and daily care of the feet. For perspiration, the following powder will be found locally excellent. Perhorate of toda, one dram; selicylic acid, twenty grains; boric acid (powdered), two ounces. Change the stockings each day, as well as the shoes, wearing each pair alternate days.

Times Inquiry Department:

Kindly tell me if there are premiums on the following coins: Half dollars dated 1854, 1855, and 1892; pennies dated 1807 and 1885; a 5-cent piece dated 1866; a 19-cent piece dated 1875; and one dated 1880. A COLLECTOR

The penny dated 1807 has a premiun on it varying from 10 to 50 cents. The other coins have no premiums attached Times Inquiry Department: Flease tell me the correct way to cat a club sandwich. Also, what should you say if you don't like a young man's dancing when he asks you for a dance and you don't want to dance with him? Thanking you, I am. Yours truly. D. B.

It is customary to eat a club sandwich with a knife and fork. If you do not care to dance with the young mar the thing to do is to decline, or if you want to tell a polite fib, say you have the dance. He will understand if you do not have the dance that you did not care to dance with him. You are going to hurt him either way, so, perhaps, there is no choice as to how you do it.

Times Inquiry. Department:

Can you tell me how or what I can do to stop biting my finger nails, and oblige,
G. M. P. Put bitter aloes on the nails and per haps this constant reminder will eventunlly break you of the habit.

LOCAL MENTION.

Don Juan, Today. Virginia, 9th, P& G.

Society Folk of Two Cities to Attend Roosevelt-Bayne Wedding in St. Thomas' Church at 4 o'Clock

Brilliant Throng to See Marriage of Former President's Kinswoman.

faces, and Marian saw that there were boys and girls about her own age.

The room was filled and the window sill, too, and Marian could see many standing outside.

They began to sing and wave their stars about. Marian put her hands over her eves

"What is the matter?" asked the moon man; "are they too dazzling for you."

Marian told him they were, and he said, "That will do, children."

All of the star children stood still, excepting one girl, who was larger than the others; she lept waving her star back and forth and singing.

"I am the queen of the evening, my Washington and New York society folk will throng St. Thomas' Episcopal Church this afternoon at 4 o'clock for the marriage of Miss Olga Roosevelt, daughter of Robert R. Roosevelt, of New York and Washington, to Dr. J. Breckinridge Bayne, of Washington.
The church will be effectively adorned for the occasion with a profusion of "I am the queen of the evening, my beauty by far Outshines all the others I'm the bright evening star." white chrysanthemums, palms and ferns.

During the seating of the guests, Edgar Priest, organist of the church, will give a recital, assisted by a string orchestra. The musical program will include "The March" from "Athalic, Mendelssohn; "To A Wild Rose," Mc Mendelssohn; "To A Wild Rose," Mendelssohn; "To A Wild Rose," Mendelssohn; "To A Wild Rose," Mendelssohn; "The Barcarrole," from Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffman;" "Meditation," from Massenet's "Thais;" "The Rosary," Nevin, and the Lohengrin and Mendelssohn wedding music. Dvoraks "Humoresque" will be played softly during the ceremony.

The Rev. John Trescot, godfather of the bride, will solemnize the ceremony, assisted by Canon DeVries, of St. Thomas'. Dr. Trescot, who is rector of St. Anne's Episcopal Church at Sayville, L. I., where the Roosevelts maintain their summer home, officiated at the marriage of the parents of the bride of today.

Mr. Roosevelt will ensort his daugnter and give her in marriage. Her bridal gown is of rich ivory satin trimmed with a profusion of rose peint lace with a leng full train falling not from the shoulders but from the waist. She will wear two vells, a short veil edged with rose point lace worn by her mother, and a long full tulle veil, neld in piace with a coronet of orange blossoms. Her only jewelry will be a single the cannot understand why I should not tell people who I am, for I am the star they usually wish on and they should know I am beautiful."

"Your brothers and sisters are quite as bright as you are," said the moon man, only they are not so large.

"What do you mean by saying you are the star that people wish on?" saked venus, "and asy:
"What do you mean by saying you are the star that people wish on?" saked venus, "and asy:
"And say:
"and say:
"Star, star shining-bright; first star I've seen tonight," with I wish I may, I wish I might have the wish I wish I might have the wish I wish tonight."

"Yes," replied Marlan, "and lots of times I never got my wish, so if you are it the star you needn't feel so proud."
"O goody, goody," said all the other of you will meet the star you needn't feel so proud."
"O goody, goody," said all the other of you needn't feel so proud."
"O goody, goody," said all the other of the star you needn't feel so proud."
"O goody, goody," said all the other of the star you needn't feel so proud."
"O goody, goody," said all the other of the star you needn't feel so proud."
"O goody, goody," said all the other of the star you needn't feel so proud."
"O goody, goody," said all the other of the star you needn't feel so proud."
"O goody, goody," said all the other of the star you needn't feel so proud."
"O goody, goody," said all the other of the star you needn't feel so proud."
"O goody, goody," said all the other of the star you needn't feel so proud."
"O goody, goody," said all the other of the star you needn't feel so proud."
"To goody, goody," said all the other of the star you needn't feel so proud."
"To goody, goody," said all the other of the star you needn't feel so proud."
"To goody, goody," said all the other of the star you needn't feel so proud."
"To goody, goody," said all the other of the star you needn't feel so proud."
"To goody, goody," said all the other of the star you needn't feel so proud."
"To goody, goody," said all the other of the star you needn't feel so proud."
"To good

leased for the winter.

Last night Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt entertained at dinner followed by informal dancing at the Chevy Chase Club in honor of the bridal party. Some of the additional guests were Miss Helen Taft, Mrs. Louis C. Lehr. Mrs. Alfred Hopkins, Mrs. Murray A. Cobb, Mrs. Dayld B. Tennant, the Misses Bayne, Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge Jordan, Miss Laura Merriam, Miss Gladys Hinckley, and Miss Catherine Britton. atherine Britton

The bride of today has been one of the most popular girls in Washington so-clety since her debut two years ago. She is a cousin of the former President and Mrs. Roosevelt, the family coming here to live at the close of their distinguished kinsman's administration

Mrs. Taft Attend Theater.

AUXIU AUXIX

Shrewd Buyers Need No Urging

to Visit the New Store

We have stood the critical inspection of the women who know style, know quality, and know values, and have won their business. The New Store appeals directly to the women who want smart apparel at popular prices. We are content with small profits—that is one of the distinctive points that individualizes the New Store in these days of high prices. Times readers will find much to interest them here Thursday.

Women's $25 $16.95

Just a special, and it will prove a winner.
These suits are in charming models, bespeaking style, quality and service. Choice of cheviots, Scotch and English mixtures and serge.

Reversible Cloth and Double

You want a nice, warm coat these cold days. Here's a value that should appeal to you. A choice lot of coats in the popular color combinations and nobby two-tone effects. Jaunty models with beauty in every line.

Very stylish and very serviceable coats for street

Rich and dainty frocks in chiffon, net and lace. Just the thing you need for dances, etc. The value

Sale of Waists

$2.98 Roman Stripe Chiffon Waists. Worth $5

$3.98 All-over Lace and Net Waists. Regular $6.00 value.

$1.98 Advance Models in Lingerie Walsts. Reg-

Face Coats

$18 Value .

$35 Seal Plush

Coats . . .

$25 Dresses $1

The President and Mrs. Taft occupied a box at the New National Theater last

Charles W. McRae and Major Archibald W. Butt, U. S. A.

Mrs. Woods' second lecture on Oxford, at the home of Mrs. A. J. Parsons yesterday afternoon, for the benefit of the to become better acquainted with them."

Ward Reeve Merritt, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. S. Mont-gomery Roosevelt, Miss Arrow Smith, Mr. and Mrs. L. Casimir de Coppet, Louis nurse was saying: "Time to get up; you overslept this morning."

Tomorrow's story: "The Boy Who Worked."

Ward Reeve Merritt, Mr. and Mrs. Will at the home of Mrs. A. J. Parsons yestenders, and Mrs. S. Mont-gomery Roosevelt, Miss Arrow Smith, Mr. and Mrs. L. Casimir de Coppet, Louis the British Ambassador and Mrs. James Bryce, Mrs. Franklin MacVeagh, Mrs. dew, Thomas Dixon, Clark Potter, all of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Bryce, Mrs. Franklin MacVeagh, Mrs. Julian James, Mrs. Robert Hinckley, Mrs. Wolcott Tuckerman, Mrs. John Brooks, jr., of Baltimore.

Dr. Bayne will take his bride for a mer Justice and Mrs. Brown, Mrs.

upon their return they will live at 1921
N street, the residence of Rear Admiral
W. H. H. Southerland, U. S. N., and Mrs. Southerland, which they have leased for the winter.
Last night Mr. and Mrs. P.

At Eighth Street Temple.

The Washington Section Council of Jewish Women held a largely attended meeting yesterday afternoon in the vestry rooms of the Eighth Street Temple, Mrs. Adolph Kahn presiding.

There was much important business

Mrs. Rudolph B. Behrend read an original paper on "Beauty," dealing with the subject under its four different heads physical, moral, mental, and spiritual beauty and establishing the fact that while each kind is most desirable and most important, it is only a combination of the four that makes for the beauty of the perfect woman.

Ernest Glehner was enthusiastically received, giving several selected readings and a beautiful little sonnet from Heine, in the original.

Mrs. Levi H. David and Mrs. Meyer Mrs. Levi H. David and Mrs. Meyer Fellheimer, at the plano, rendered most artistically Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" in duet.

A 5 o'clock tea closed a very pleasant afternoon.

Miss Lower to Wed Mr. Pomeroy I his Afternoon at Four o'Clock.

Miss Elsie Elizabeth Lower, daughter ding music will be played by Miss Margaret O'Toole.

satin veiled an shadow lace and em-broidered in seed pearls. Her long tulle veil will fall from a cap of prin-cess lace and orange blossoms, and she will carry a tiny white prayer book and cascade bouquet of filies of the valley. Her only ornament will be an old-fashioned dull gold brooch, which was worn by her mother at her wed-ding.

was worn by her mother at her wedding.

Irwin B. Lower and Fred C. O'Connell will be the ushers.

Immediately after the ceremony at the church a small and informal reception will follow at the home of the bride's parents. Palms and clusters of white reses will adont the houses. Later in the evening Mr. Pomeroy and his bride will leave Washington for a wedding trip. The latter will travel in a tallored suit of brown and tan cloth, with a small brown velvet hat. Upon their return to Washington they will be at home after January 1 at the Lonsdide, 2133 California avenue.

Among those from out of town who will attend the wedding will be Mr. ami Mrs. A. J. Finton and Mrs. Cease, of New York, and Mrs. Frank Carson, of Frederick, Md.

Miss Jones Wedded To Clyde D. Garrett.

Last evening at 80'clcck, the marriage of Miss Verda Jones, daughter of Mrs. H. S. Jones, to Clyde D. Garrett, took place at All Saints' Episcopal Church. Chevy Chase. The wedding ceremony which was performed by Canon Austin was attended by a large party of rel atives and friends,

The church was beautifully adorned in palms, clusters of autumn leaves, and yellow and white chrysanthemums and yellow and white chrysanthemums. The bride, who was given in marriage by her mother, work a beautiful gown of white crepe meteor sath trimmed in point lace and chiffon and embroidered in pearls. Her tulk veil, which was arranged in a cap effect with bands of pearls and orange blossoms, was worn by her sister. Mrs. Henry Bernard Myers, at her medding one month ago. The bridal bouquet was a shower of Bride roses and ferns.

Mrs. Henry Bernard Myers, who was her sister's matron of honor, wore a pink crepe de chine gown draped in chiffon and trimmed in poarls. She carried Golden Gate roses and a shower bouquet.

Seen in the Shops

If there is a lawyer in the family, or leather store in F street, on the north side, near Twelfth, is carrying a good line of leather brief cases for as low as M. These cases have poskets in them for papers, pads, penells, and ervelopes, and are made of an excellent quality of imported cowhide and other durable leathers. They are made large and roomy, and have strong straps and comfortable leather handles.

A large sporting store in Fourteenth street, near G, is displaying many attractive caps for the schoolboys of

The small hats this season call for the The bride, who will be escorted and given in marriage by her father, will wear a beautiful gown of soft white satin velled in shadow lace and embroidered in seed) pearls. Her long trulle vell will fall from a cap of princess lace and orange blossoms, and she will carry a tiny white prayer book and cassade bonguet of litter of the

> The Community silverware is equivalent to quality, durability, and style, in flat table silver pieces; at least that is what the buyer in a large G street department store, near Eleventh street, told me this morning, when he showed me this beautiful silver. He says formerly this silverware was guaranteed for twenty-five years' service without tarnishing, but now it is guaranteed for fifty years. It comes in classic, Louis XVI, Sheraton, and many other famous patterns, and the prices are popular enough to be within the reach of the least extravagant housekeeper. I saw a beautiful classic style ice cream fork beautiful classic style ice cream fork for $6 a dozen; also a salad fork for $8 a dozen, and fruit knives with hollow handles for $9 a dozen.

A store in F street between Twelfth and Thirteenth is showing a beautiful line of evening and street dresses for the uniform price of $25. There are meteor crepes, crepe de chenes, velvets in blue and black, satin messalines, black taffetas and pale evening shades embroidered richly with contrasting silk color combinations. There also were some fine French navy serge, one-piece street dresses of a quality so soft as to feel like fine cashmere, trimmed with black messaline satin.

I saw a very stunning small toque in the millinery department of a large department store in F street near Eleventh this morning which was an excep-tional bargain. It was a velvet hat trimmed with brown martin fur and nestling on the left side and at the base of the huge ear trimining of velvet lace and fur, were a few dainty pink and tin-seled rosebuds, which lent a distinc-tively French touch to the general style of the hat. The price was $12.

The Lady Laundress.

After having twice broken her weekly and as often supplied an inefficient substitute, Mrs. McCarsey returned to her post one Monday morning with scanty apologies for the inconvenience flie had caused.

"Twas lucky for you, Mrs. Brown, I was able to find any wan to take me bosquet.

Miss Lucile Joner, another sister of the bride. and Miss May Ford were the bridesmalds. They wore gowns of pink crepe de chine with shower bouquets of Golden Gate reces.

Henry Bernard Myers was best man for Mr. Garrett, and the ushers were Chester Caywood, Dunbar Dodson, Charles McCubbin, and John Myers.

Scanty apologies for the inconvenience flie had caused.

"Twas lucky for you, Mrs Brown, I was able to find any wan to take me place for a-most ivery wan was engaged," sho remarked tolerantly. "I told the lady I slut that ye was a good woman to work for an she said whim I seen her afther that she was satisfied with ye."—New York Press.

Woodward & Lothrop

New York-WASHINGTON-Paris

Women's Fine Sample Waists At Much Less Than Regular Values

An Exceptional Variety of Styles Secured

From Two of the Very Best Makers

THE fact that these waists have been used as samples has in no degree lessened their desirability—the lessening of the price—which is in your favor—is the only change that has taken place in them.

They come from two of the best makers, and the present prices are all out of comparison with what they were made to sell for.

Assortments and styles are so varied that we can give only a slight idea of what the sale contains—one fact is certain, however, women may come expecting to find the best values possible to offer.

$1.25, $1.50 and $1.75 Waists—$1.00 Each

Strictly Tailor-made Styles of madras, of-a-style models. Sizes 36, 38 and 40.

$2.25 and $2.50 Waists $1.50 Each

Linen Madras, Lawn, Batiste and fashlawn and dimity. And what makes them joned in styles universally popular-severemore attractive is that there are many one- ly tailored, mannish and tucked effects. Sizes 36, 38, 40 and 42.

Other High-Grade Wais ts in tailored, lingerie and dress effects, all made of washable materials, in distinctive styles, many of them copies of French models, priced as $5.00. Value, $7.50 Value, $2.95 $2.00. Value, $8.75 Value, $3.50 $2.50, Value, $3.75 Value, $10.00 $2.95. $3.75. Value, $5.75 Value, $12.50

Keep Right

One way to find employment is to watch the Helo Wanted columns of The Times each day. If you do not find the position you want the very first day you read these advertisements, keep at it! Read them every day. Do this, and sooner or later your opportunity will arrive. Washington's best employers use the ' p Wanted columns of The Times because they have found by experience that it pays to

Put It In The Times